To whom it may concern, The erection of wind towers on the Copperbella Range would be tantamount to environmental vandalism. These aesthetically pleasing hills have been enjoyed by generations of residents and travellers alike. It is my belief the wind towers and their associated infrastructure of roads and power lines will totally destroy one of life's pleasures for residents and passers by. In my life time I have seen several devastating bushfires in this general area, all have been fast moving and resulted in stock and infrastructure losses. One event, you may remember, entered Canberra? Recently I have discovered these generators routinely catch fire and if this were to happen on a high risk day the resulting bushfire would have catastrophic effects. Other environmental problems such as Soil erosion, Zoological habitat and Vegetation removal I shall not dwell on as I am sure you are already acutely aware.

Thank you
Annette Hume
