Description:

View from west of the site, along a ridge that overlooks the valley through which Deep Creek flows. The valley runs down and directly away from this viewing location toward the Karuah River.

Comments:

This view is from an elevated position and represents the best accessible vantage point for views along the valley.

The ridges that form the edge of the valley extend into the valley to block any views of the proposed quarry site.

As there is nothing like a quarry in this entire area you will be seen, felt and heard with dust impacts our sad reality if this proposed quarry is approved.
