

relevant industry to provide and pre-empt the minimum information necessary to make judgments on the hydrological processes of interest is a collective failure, especially given the long history of recognised hydrological concerns in this area.

Yours Sincerely,

Dr Joshua Larsen