Dear Troy,

I strongly object to this project and do not want it to proceed.

A development of this kind and size should not go in that location. It is too close to a school. Parking and traffic is already a nightmare in that area and the public transport is shocking to that part of Wahroonga.

The space would be better used as a school oval or playing field. Or better still, a facility for young people with disabilities to live in a lovely community environment once they turn 18. This could be funded by the NDIS. Does Ku-rin-gai meet there quota for care and residential facilities for the disabled? I know they do not!

The housing market has died and people do not want units in Wahroonga. This venture is not going to be worth the heartache.

Thanking you kindly.

Vivienne Dimmick
