We strongly object to the Narrabri Gas Project on the grounds because one small mistake could ruin The Great Australian Artesian Basin. This would effectively ruin 22% of Australia. Many country towns, Agriculture and Industry in The Basin, could be without water. Australia cannot risk this happening.

The long-term effects have not been considered. How are the chemicals and salt to be disposed of? These would severely effect domestic and export markets of our beef, sheep and grain.

Why are we being told there are gas shortages when it is common knowledge that China can buy Australian gas cheaper than we can in Australia. This is wrong!

Key requirements of the NSW Chief Scientist have not been met, Landholders can not get insurance cover if CSG operates on their land.

We owe it to the next generation to leave our world and especially our part in better condition than we found it
