

NARRABRI COAL SEAM GAS SUBMISSION.

I am horrified at the thought of coal seam gas production by Santos. The risk of damaging our artesian and sub-artesian water supplies is far too great. Underground water is the lifeblood of inland Australia. We are the driest nation in the world and also the biggest exporter of natural gas in the world. Are we going to sacrifice our underground water which we have been using for over 150 years for 20 years of coal seam gas production. supplies that I have seen in 80 years living adjacent to the eastern edge of the Pilliga Scrub.

You can live without gas but you can not live without water.
