I live in Warren where all water piped into our homes is bore water and it is essential for Warren's domestic usage. Should we not have this Warren would find it very difficult to exist. I also spent 50 years of my life on a property north of Warren where we were dependent on bore water in times of drought when the dams were dry.. Some much of Australia is only viable if there is a permanent supply of safe water for stock that I hope this situation is at the top of your consideration. Sincerely
Cath Russ
