If this McPhillamy proposal is approved, the nightmare that has been the last 10 years will become a frightening reality for the King's Plains community.

The strain and anxiety that this proposed development has forced upon the many landholders and residents within the proximity has been immense.

The face of the community has changed. People are scared of the changes they know will be inflicted on their health and lifestyle if this development is granted. People are frightened for their families and the future of their farms and livestock.
