Submission:

The Bowdens Silver project would be beneficial to our economy as it will open business opportunities leading to employment.

Silver has many industrial uses. With the transition to renewables, silver will be needed to make solar panels, batteries etc.

There is currently not enough yearly global output^{and supply} of Silver mined to meet the demand for renewables. Australia is very lucky to have such a significant deposit such as the one at Bowden, and has the potential to be a global leader and supplier of this commodity.

Silver also has monetary use and will be in high demand in the upcoming recession.
