I cannot believe that NSW government would consider this proposal so close to Canberra suburbs. And I cannot believe that the ACT government would even consider allowing it. It's incredibly dangerous to put solar farms so close to suburbs. What about the hazards? What if it catches fire? There seems to be zero common sense from both Labor governments in pushing ahead with this ludicrous proposal. Neighbouring suburbs will not be the only areas of Canberra and regional NSW dangerously affected if something goes wrong. Why, when there is so much vacant land in Australia where solar farms can be safely placed, would anyone choose to locate this in such a hazardous way??? Many many people will actively campaign as hard as possible against Labor if you go ahead with this monstrous plan.
