This appears to be another poorly conceived idea to advance political aims and business objectives at expense of all sound rationale and reason. The site selected and the implications and community concerns have been roundly ignored yet again. This site and proposed plan does not adequately address issues associated with increased heavy duty traffic and additional traffic on access routes will also impact already challenged road infrastructure. Local residents will, through their rates, be required to increase contributions to support this facilities damage as a result of operation. The cost to the local community of maintaining roads that already can't be maintained in addition to all the other costs associated with unfettered residential expansion will make the Highlands a less than affordable environment to live. The noise and operational impacts on surrounding sensitive areas and residents has been roundly ignored. The risk of pollution and environment concerns has been ignored especially noise, air, water and microplastics. At the same time we seem intent on pushing more and more development into the Southern Highlands without any meaningful investment from state government for infrastructure necessary to support it. The fact that overwhelmingly we seem intent of impacting communities negatively despite valid objections and concerns without any remediation of consideration indicates this is a short term objective that does not take into consideration the long term consequences. Votes and business for friends seem to be all that counts these days. The need for recycling is undeniable but this is the wrong site and the repercussions are immense.
