I live in Moss Vale, own a home and teach at a local school. I am deeply concerned about the impact of this development on our future physical health, both that of my community and my own family (I have children). I believe it is far too close to town, and also dangerously close to waterways- waterways which do impact ours and Sydney's water supply. I am also worried about the financial impact of this on my home's value. I am deeply unhappy about this being in Moss Vale. Our Main Street is already gridlocked, the addition of trucks for plasrefine will worsen this- and the addition of Ashbourne will have an impact also. I haven't seen adequate evidence of significant upgrades to our roads to mitigate this.

While I appreciate the effort to recycle, this process does not come without negative impact. Please do not allow this where I live. Is there a more appropriate location for something like this? Thank you.
