Evidence proves that there will be contamination to the site and surrounding land and waterways. The Wingecarribee River is far too close to the site. Rainfall of this area ensures contamination ends up in the river and in our food chain. Council as custodians of the land must say NO. We have a farm not far from the site, this type of industrialisation affects our agricultural industry. As more farmers leave the area, we lose our sale yards and our whole agricultural support system. I've seen this all happen in Camden over 30 years. The Highlands whose tourism and residents' quality of life depends on maintaining an agricultural base must be protected at all costs. Council needs a clear plan for protection of the Highlands as a green and clean haven that it prides itself on.
