this development will severely impact the health of residents in the Southern Highlands. There has been a great deal of research conducted in areas which have these recycling factories located close by and that research has proven that the chemicals used in the process and emitted into the atmosphere cause large increases of cancer, infertility, autism, diabetes type 2, and lung diseases. The proponent has not addressed major issues such as which chemicals will be used, what the plan is in case of fire, and other major issues.

The litigation costs, class actions, that will follow in the years to come with regard to ill health and damage to life and property, will far outway the purpose of this development and will cost the government millions.
